OPPORTUNITIES

SPERC graduate students become highly qualified professionals recognized for their expertise throughout the state and across the nation. As leaders in their fields, they continually learn through research and experience, supported by our outstanding faculty members. Our master's students can receive advanced training in:

- ▶ Administrative Supervisory Licensure
- ▶ Advanced Practice of Special Education
- ▶ Board Certified Behavior Analyst
- ▶ Rehabilitation and Disability Studies

All of our doctoral students learn through research and clinics in multiple programs, such as the ASSERT program working with children with autism, the Behavior Support Services to help children and adults with severe behavioral problems, and other collaborative projects. PhD specializations in Disability Disciplines include:

- ▶ Applied Behavior Analysis with Individuals with Disabilities
- ▶ Audiology
- ▶ Pathokinesiology
- ▶ Rehabilitation Counseling
- ▶ Special Education
- ▶ Speech-Language Pathology

The knowledge and expertise of the faculty at USU has made it easier to pursue experiences and research interests that will help me enter an academic position with confidence."
